I am so thankful finally I got my new scooter, which I bought from a nearby newly opened motorcycle shop TUN. Within the same week everything was settled, legalities of documents, and of course they handed me my red and black scooter. I instantly thought of naming it as Vietnam visa. There were numerous rumors regarding their line of products and legal issues but I have proven them wrong about their notions when I purchased one of their products which is the scooter. Honestly, I didn't know how to drive a scooter or motorbike. So, I immediately called my uncle via my mobile phone and asked him to teach me how to drive my new scooter. After our conversation, we eventually agreed for me to be trained during the weekend. I felt nervous about my training since I couldn't visualize the outcome of my training. During our training date, I was surprised. I can't imagine that within an hour or two, I immediately learned how to drive my own scooter. Thankfully, I know how to ride a mountain bike ever since I was a kid. This had given me some skills in balancing my weight and body when riding, which is prerequisite when driving a motorbike. As they say, "If you know how to ride a bike you can easily be taught on how to ride a motorcycle or scooter." This is really true and I am one of many living proofs.

My experiences riding a scooter from the day I bought it and until now are really rewarding. It is really 'time savvy and effortless' especially when you needed to 'be on time' with your important dates or appointments and other errands. You can go wherever and whenever you want to go. One thing for sure, I really need to learn more about how to maintain my scooter in good shape and its intricate mechanisms to make it last a little bit longer than usual. I really love my new scooter and I'm glad I had one my own now. This is a really great and useful travel gear and companion.
